Your staff sans Gina in finance has been delightful but after my engagement with Gina and her lack of professional conduct it will take a hand written apology to get me and my four children thru that door again. I am appalled that your finances are managed by a person that pretends to be so aggressive in front of children.

Everything went great! The dentist office is full of caring young professionals that work well with kids. They value their profession and the care they provide to their clients. Dr. B., Dr. Klein and his team were great, knowledgeable and made sure I was informed with all aspects of my childrens teeth and care they provided and could provide in the future. They were sensitive to me and my children's needs. They have a lot to keep the kids mind off of the work being done. Movies, video games, and unbelievable interactions. From the beautiful and caring ladies at the front desk to the dental assistances who allowed me to be myself with laughs, smiles and even a few tears. I can go on and on about the exceptional work and care my children and I received. I would highly recommend this office, this team! Keep up the great work Thanks again for asking.

The staff at Funtastic dental is awesome! I had all three of my boys with me (8,9 & 11). They all had cleanings, two had Ortho appointments on top of their regular cleaning and one ended up having FIVE teeth pulled. The staff managed to get all that done with a smile on their faces in less than 2 hours!! That was with an office full of people on both the Ortho side and Dental side. The boys love the office because of all the cool games and iPads. I would recommend Funtastic dental to EVERYONE!!

The experience for my children was great when Dr. Stella was still there. However, since his retirement, the dental/orthodontics service has left a bad taste in our mouths. Your new set of young dentists are capable. However, we avoid getting Dr. Fisher. Whenever my children see her, more work gets added to the queue of procedures. Eg. We are told my son needs two fillings by one dentist, but when we come in for the follow-up and end up in her chair, she says it's actually five fillings. This has happened more than once. It feels like she's gouging us. The orthodontic experience has been frustrating as well. Dr. Bhavnani took over my son's treatment when the previous orthodontist left. Since then, my son still has his braces, 6+ months (and going) longer than he was scheduled. Keep in mind, the original Ortho as well as one dentist and Dr. Stella had told us that his fixes were very minor and mostly aesthetic. Also, her VERY limited availability is hard to schedule with. The saving graces are Dr. Surger (we haven't really dealt with the other two) and the office staff. The desk staff is always lovely and helpful.

Yesterday was a very busy afternoon. Had to WAIT 20 minutes after our appointment time to get called. Usually have to wait less then 5 minutes. Looks like Funtastic keeps taking more patients and the quality of service is going down. The technician didn't even tell me what they did to my daughter (like they ALWAYS do). Never saw the dr -- Was she even there? Felt like a revolving door. Not as personal as it usually is. Not sure I will do phase 2 for my child if this continues.

The new ortho doctor is not the friendliest and does not explain treatment or procedures very well.

I'm 21 and have needed braces for yearsssss. I have always been so afraid of the dentist period so it was a really hard decision to make the appointment and actually follow through. They made me feel really at home and for once in my life I wasn't scared! It was the best appointment ever.

The staff were very nice, patient, & welcoming. Only concern is that they ran 15 mins late & I wasn't alerted, so the kids started to get a bit antsy.

My son has been going to FUNtastic Dental and Orthodontics for almost 10 years. The place is very clean and up to date looking. The staff is very nice and friendly and they go out of their way to help you with appointments. My son recently had a tooth pulled; no problems. I don't remember the name of the dentist though. There are more dentists now since the practice is very busy and I don't seem to see the same one. My son also just got braces. I first met Dr. Wu for the consultation. Super great and loved him, but unfortunately he left to another practice. Too bad Thousand Oaks is so far away and then I don't think he works Saturdays, otherwise I probably would have followed him there (I think he also joined a practice in Westwood, but no Saturdays either). My son liked Dr. B. So far no problems with her. I know she doesn't have the same personality as Dr. Wu but she is nice and professional. I never have to wait more than 5 minutes for my appointments whenever I've had to come.

We used to go here because of Dr. Wu and his personality and the ease of being in and out. This past time it felt like cattle cow. This new ortho didn't even take the time to talk to my son. We also had to wait a lot longer then usual, 20 minutes before being called. The assistance hasn't been as efficient at their jobs either. My son keeps complaining that they are not knowing what they are doing and having to redo things and slow. He comes out the appt with a sore mouth not because of new bands but because of having to open his mouth for so long. Front desk is always sweet as canbe but this new Dr. needs to be a lot friendly to her pt and staff.

I brought my daughter in for a free orthodontic consultation. Staff were friendly and courteous. Dr. Wu explained teeth development and options for orthodontic treatments clearly. He also asked if I had any questions and suggested periodic follow-up appointments over the next several years to determine when braces would be appropriate.
